Gifts to the Redlands Foundation Scholarship Fund are tax deductible for Australian taxation purposes. Payments made annually on a pledge over a f ve year period may be deducted from the top of the donors' gross income. Gifts may be made in equal amounts or varied to obtain maximum concessions for particular donors.

Taxpayers are allowed to spread the tax deductions for cash donations (as well as donations of property) over f ve years rather than just in the year the gift is made. This means that individuals or businesses can nominate a particular year or years in which to claim their tax-deduction.

Donors may make a personal or corporate gift. It may be made as a memorial gift to a loved one, or to commemorate a family name or company sponsorship. A receipt will be issued for tax purposes at the end of each f nancial year or upon request.

The following table, based on the current tax rates, shows the "net cost" to donors of their gifts to the
